DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 9-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 9, “the extension pole is formed with the cap of the second pole segment formed without removal of the cap” is not understood in the context of the claimed invention. This almost appears to be a method step.

In claim 13, “the extension pole is formed with the cap of the last pole segment added formed without removal of the cap...” is not understood in the context of the claimed invention. This almost appears to be a method step.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 5, 6, 8-10, 12-14, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Siebert, US Patent 2,712,950 in view of Lah, US Patent 6,557,572. Siebert provides successively joined pole segments, each segment being substantially identical. Each segment comprising first and second tube portions. The first tube portion of a first pole segment is received into the second tube portion of a second pole segments, as claimed. A locking mechanism is provide to lock the segments together.

Siebert provides the claimed invention except for explicit teaching of a resilient cap insert, as claimed. Lah provides such a cap 90. One purpose^{of} Lah's cap is to provide a buffering piece that would prevent damage to other pole segments. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made for one skilled in the art to have included in the design of Siebert such a modification, for the purpose of providing a buffering structure that would prevent damage to other pole elements.

5. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Siebert in view of Lah. Regarding the particular lengths of the pole segments, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the device of whatever form or shape was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47. Such a modification would have produced no unexpected results and is not critical to the design.

5. Claims 11 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Seibert in view of Lah and in further view of Eichhorn, US Patent 5,779,386. Although the particular claimed locking mechanism arrangement is not explicitly provided by the combination, such arrangements are old and well known in the art of tubular connections. Eichhorn teaches such an arrangement that is considered mechanically equivalent to the claimed arrangement. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made for one skilled in the art to have included such a modification in the combination, such as that taught by Eichhorn, for the purpose of providing an alternative arrangement that would have functioned equally as well.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 5, 6, and 8-16 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. After further review, new art has been applied and all pending claims have been rejected.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
